PREFACE

This is the 22nd annual edition of the “Seton Hall University Fact Book”. It is intended to serve the routine statistical and informational needs of faculty, administration, staff, and alumni. The Institutional Research Office has attempted to offer relevant information on the principal characteristics and strengths of Seton Hall University. In all areas, we have attempted to gather the current and most accurate data available. Please notify the Institutional Research Office if you are aware of any factual errors.

You are encouraged to offer comments and suggestions for improvement of future editions and the expansion of reporting areas.

Appreciation is extended to the many offices that have assisted in the research necessary for compiling this Fact Book.

THE UNIVERSITY

MISSION STATEMENT

Seton Hall is a major Catholic university. In a diverse and a collaborative environment it focuses on academic excellence and ethical development. Seton Hall students are prepared to be leaders in their professional and community lives in a global society and are challenged by outstanding faculty, an evolving technologically advanced setting and values-centered curricula.

SESQUICENTENNIAL VISION

The Sesquicentennial Strategic Agenda approved by the Board of Regents on June 5, 2003, gave the following as Seton Hall University's Sesquicentennial Vision:

Seton Hall will be recognized among top-tier Catholic universities as we approach our 150th anniversary. All the University's efforts will flow from its faith and justice commitments, anticipating and responding to the changing needs of Church and society. The entire University will be engaged in the intellectual, personal and spiritual development of our students. Indeed, every member of the community will experience a rigorous, value-centered and technologically enhanced environment. Prepared ethically and professionally, we will be sustained by a rich Catholic heritage and formed to be servant leaders in a global society.

BIOGRAPHY OF MOTHER SETON

(1774 – 1821)

Elizabeth Ann Bayley was born August 28, 1774 in New York City. Her father, Dr. Richard Bayley, was a prominent physician and surgeon and the first Health Officer in New York City. Her mother, Catherine Charlton Bayley, the daughter of an Episcopal minister, died May 8, 1777 leaving three children, Mary 7, Elizabeth, 2 years, 9 months, and an infant, Catherine, who died two years later. Dr. Richard Bayley died of yellow fever in 1801.

A year after his wife died, Dr. Richard Bayley married Charlotte Amelia Barclay. They had four children. Mary and Elizabeth spent their summers with their Uncle William Bayley at the Pell Bayley House in New Rochelle, New York.

Elizabeth Bayley married William Magee Seton, a wealthy shipping magnate on January 25, 1794. They had five children: Anna Maria (May 3, 1795); William (November 25, 1796); Richard (July 20, 1798); Catherine (June 28, 1800); and Rebecca (August 20, 1802).

William Magee Seton suffered financial ruin and died of tuberculosis December 27, 1803 in Italy leaving Elizabeth a poor young widow with five small children.

Anna Maria, the eldest daughter, at 8 years of age, went to Italy with her parents where her ailing father died. She became affectionately called Annina by her mother. Anna Maria, as her father, died of tuberculosis March 12, 1812.

Elizabeth Seton, raised in the Episcopal Church, converted to Catholicism. She received her first Holy Communion in March 25, 1805. To raise and educate her own children, she became a teacher and wanted all children, boys and girls, to receive free education. At the Pace Street House in Baltimore she founded her first Catholic school.

On March 25, 1809 Elizabeth Seton pronounced vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. Henceforth, she became known as Mother Seton. She began the Sisters of Charity of St. Joseph on July 31, 1809 at the Stone House in Emmitsburg, Maryland.

Mother Seton established St. Joseph's Academy, the first Catholic parochial school in the United States.

Elizabeth Seton died of tuberculosis on January 4, 1821 at the age of 47. Her remains are sealed in the Basilica of St. Elizabeth Ann Seton in Emmitsburg, Maryland.

In September 1975, Elizabeth Seton became the first native-born American to be canonized as a saint. A tapestry bearing her image hung over the entrance to St. Peter's Basilica in Rome.

BRIEF HISTORY

Seton Hall University was founded in 1856 by Bishop James Roosevelt Bayley, the first bishop of Newark, who named it after his aunt, Elizabeth Ann Seton, a pioneer in Catholic education and the first American-born saint. The University is the oldest diocesan university in the United States. Nestled on 58 acres in the suburban village of South Orange, New Jersey, Seton Hall's campus is home to eight schools and colleges: the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Education and Human Services, the College of Nursing, the John C. Whitehead School of Diplomacy and International Relations, the School Health and Medical Sciences, the Stillman School of Business, Immaculate Conception Seminary School of Theology and University College. Seton Hall's ninth school, the School of Law, is located in Newark, New Jersey.

From its original enrollment of a handful of students, Seton Hall grew rapidly. During its first 12 years, the College enrolled more than 500 freshmen from 17 states and six foreign countries. Seton Hall always has reflected the growing ethnic scope of its students and the increasing diversity of the Church and society it has served. In the 19th century, in spite of setbacks, major fires, lean times and the Civil War, the College continued to expand. By 1937, Seton Hall established a University College. This marked the first matriculation of women at Seton Hall. The University became fully coeducational in 1968.

The years after World War II witnessed unprecedented growth for Seton Hall as it responded to the needs of thousands of veterans seeking higher education. The College was organized into a university in 1950, comprising the College of Arts and Sciences and the schools of Business, Nursing and Education. The School of Law opened its doors in 1951 and the John C. Whitehead School of Diplomacy and International Relations was established in 1997, and formally named in 2002.

The 1950's and 1960's saw the construction and modernization of a large number of facilities and the construction of the library, science building, residence halls and the University Center. Many new programs and majors were inaugurated, as were important social outreach efforts. New ties were established with the private and industrial sectors, and a growing partnership developed with federal and state governments in creating programs for the economically and educationally disadvantaged.

The 1970s and 1980s continued to be a time of growth and renewal. New business and nursing classroom buildings and an art center were opened. In 1984 the Immaculate Conception Seminary returned to Seton Hall, its original home until 1926, when it moved to Darlington. With construction of four new residence halls between 1986-1988, and the purchase of off-campus apartment buildings in 1990 and 2004, Seton Hall now provides living space for approximately 2,100 students.

The physical development of the campus continued in the 1990's. In 1994, construction was completed on the $20 million, four-story Walsh Library. In 1997, Seton Hall moved its College of Education and Human Services, Stillman School of Business, Center for Public Service, and the Departments of Sociology and Anthropology, Psychology, and Political Science into Jubilee Hall, named to commemorate the University's Sesquicentennial.

When the Sesquicentennial of Seton Hall was observed in 2006, we looked back on the prophetic concluding words from the 1956 centenary history of the University: "Seton Hall University's great boast and claim to fame is not predicated on expansion, buildings or even curriculum. It lies rather in the hearts and minds of a dedicated and devoted faculty." Seton Hall's history has been one primarily of people: students and faculty living and working together in a community of learning, a community rooted in a Catholic tradition that is a home for the mind, the heart and the spirit.

* Note: Enrollment figures represent both full-time and part-time students per major.

† Note: In Fall 2005, Communication was divided into four specific majors: Broadcasting/Visual Media, Communication Studies, Public Relations & Journalism, and Theatre Studies/Performance. For this trends analysis, the old and new majors have been grouped together for convenience.

‡ Note: Hyphens "-" within the term columns indicate majors which were not offered during the corresponding term. Hyphens "-" within the 10 year change column indicate majors which were not offered in the start or end terms.

§ Source: Data provided from annual enrollment reports compiled from the university's registration files on the Student Information System (SIS) and Banner.

* Note: "Adjusted Freshman Cohort" excludes deceased students where death occurred during matriculation, or students determined not to have entered as full-time freshmen after census date reporting. The appropriate adjustments were made to the entering class size.

† Note: The attrition rates in the table are the number of entering fall freshmen who were not enrolled in the next fall semester.

‡ Note: Beginning with the entering Fall 2006 class, the special admits category includes Seton Summer Scholars.

§ Note: The breakdowns "By Resident Status" is based on the student's entering status and is kept at that value.

** Note: All "By Entering College" breakdowns exclude students who switched between majors in their first semester, as well as students who switched between status undeclared and a major before or during their first semester.

†† Note: The Arts & Sciences breakdowns include, in addition to students admitted to A&S majors, all students admitted with status "undeclared". Status "undeclared" applies both to students not admitted to their major of choice and to students undecided as to choice of major.

NSSE DASHBOARDS

National Survey of Student Engagement 10-year Review

NSSE: Seton Hall has participated annually in the national assessment project known as NSSE (pronounced “nessie”) referring to the National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE), for ten years. The survey, designed by George Kuh and colleagues at the University of Indiana, does not ask students to assign satisfaction ratings to their courses and professors; rather, it asks them to quantify their own participation in, or the extent they have had opportunity to participate in, active and collaborative learning environments that challenge and convey high expectations. That is, NSSE asks students to quantify the extent that their courses and coursework ‘pull them in’ via pedagogy and practices that can lead to deeper learning, based on evidence in published study that has long defined such educational practices and environments. Rather than students assigning subjective ratings, instead students respond to concrete questions concerning the frequency with which they encounter certain features in their educational environment and the extent to which they personally have participated in the activities and behaviors attendant.

Because the project attracts a wide participation by other institutions each year, Seton Hall’s NSSE results can be calibrated against national reference values. These reference values give Seton Hall the means to see – relative to other institutions – its relative successes and challenges that have come from the University’s efforts to support and foster proven instructional practices.

Two key features then concerning the NSSE study: 1. It is a survey project comprised of behavioral metrics rather than satisfaction ratings. 2. It is a nationally conducted and calibrated study. These features together make Seton Hall’s NSSE results a valuable resource for self-study.

2010 SURVEY: The latest NSSE period, for the time-frame of this Fact Book, is Spring 2010. A total of 616 institutions participated in the NSSE study during Spring 2010. Thirty-three were universities in the same Carnegie category (Basic Carnegie 2005) as Seton Hall. Nationally, the average response rates for institutions in SHU’s Carnegie category was 25% for first year students and 30% for seniors; or 28% overall. At Seton Hall, the response rates were 28% and 30% for first-year and senior students, respectively; or 29% overall.

RESULTS: NSSE targets two distinct groups of students: first-year students and seniors. NSSE data are reviewed and calibrated against reference values reported within these two separately considered undergraduate groups. NSSE uses a subset of the larger set of survey questions to combine student responses into 5 broad themes referred by NSSE as benchmarks (‘benchmarks of Effective Educational Practices’). In the dashboard displays that follow, a further subset of Seton Hall’s NSSE results are presented for each group surveyed (first-year students and seniors) framed by NSSE benchmark headings. While for reasons of space and readability, not every question used by NSSE to derive its benchmarks is included in the dashboard displays, use of the NSSE benchmarks to frame the results ensures balanced presentation of Seton Hall results. The questions included are the same as those selected for inclusion in 2006 when SHU’s NSSE dashboard were first crafted. For stability across years of employing this format of NSSE summary, question selection was intentionally kept consistent with the set selected in 2006. Selections at that time were systematic and balanced, with all highest and lowest SHU outcomes (relative to Carnegie peers) included; leaving room for about half of the remaining (questions where SHU outcomes relative to its peers are neither positive nor negative) to be included within each dashboard’s display of 25 NSSE outcomes.

FORMAT: The trend indicators within each dashboard cell give simple synopsis of where SHU stands relative to two different types of reference data – the first: SHU relative to itself, with reference to its own historical data over the entire 10 year period of participation; and the second: SHU relative to its peers, with reference to averages reported by NSSE across all institutions participating in NSSE (in 2010) that are in Seton Hall’s same Carnegie classification category. A separate legend page includes a detailed key for the Seton Hall NSSE dashboard format.

NSSE DASHBOARD KEY

"Peer" values are values calculated across the set of Carnegie (2005 Basic category) doctoral peer universities that participated in NSSE in spring 2010 (listing by name of institutions available from the Office of Institutional Research).

Additional Note

Whenever a trend direction indicator is shown followed by a ^, a positive gap between SHU and its peers has existed over time and remains large enough to influence the choice of trend indicator. For example, ▲^ signals that a • could have been chosen since the 2010 value is not higher than the 2009 value by 2%. ▲^ is used instead if SHU is maintaining an already highly significant positive difference from its Carnegie; it just hasn't increased it by 2% this year. Similarly a •^ indicates that SHU's latest value, while 2% lower than the previous SHU value; nonetheless, is still at a level a large positive distance from the average value of SHU's peers.

Adjustments of this kind are made as required to avoid suggesting flat or negative trend when over time it appears that the bigger picture is one of a sustained and/or widening positive gap. A total of 4 such adjustments: 2 on the First Year Dashboard, 2 on the Senior Year Dashboard.
